Part number cross reference

Your row holds two numbers.
That is not an answer.

A buyer needs a decision, not a lookup.

ChatSKU

Another maker's number? Which reply helps?

Parts search

Do you have an equivalent for Maker A model 4410?

General assistant

Your SKU 77-210.

No context

Catalog assistant

77-210 is a functional equivalent. Wider mounting holes. In stock. I can start a quote.

A decision

ChatSKU

Two numbers in a row. Six fields missing.

What most tables store

2

Their number and yours

What the buyer needs

6 more

Match, difference, direction, date, stock, next step

Fit, differences, and stock are the questions the bare pair never answers.

ChatSKU

The record, as a card.
One row, one answer.

Record

MATCH TYPE

Functional equivalent

WHAT DIFFERS

Mounting holes slightly wider

DIRECTION

Two way

LAST VERIFIED

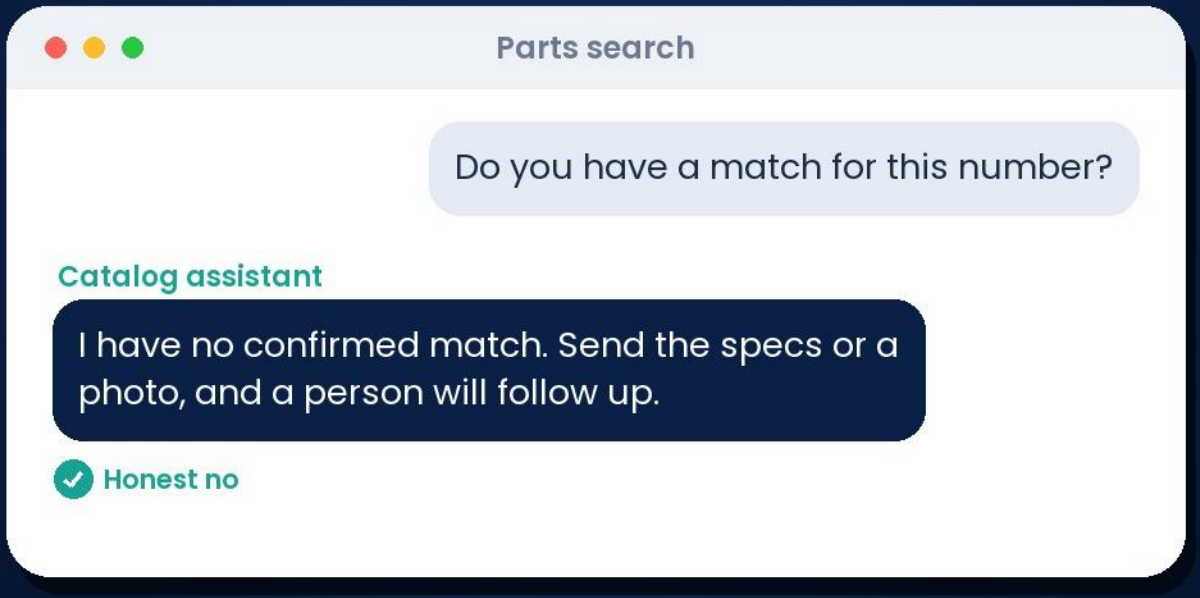

Dated, with who checked

STOCK AND NEXT STEP

In stock. Start a quote.

ChatSKU

A number not in your table? Say so.

ChatSKU

The takeaway

Design the record first. Then decide who delivers it.

Give it an owner, a review trigger, and a no-match answer.

ChatSKU